CITY MATTERS.

Superintendent W. J. White is again on duty, having recovered from his recent illness.

Urban Citizen: "Mrs. E. S. Hedges and daughter Annie returned to Springfield today, after a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Sexton."

A car containing whisky and tobacco, standing in the L. & B. W. yards, was broken into Saturday night. The thieves were scared away, however, before securing any booty.

In the Mayor's Court, yesterday, the colored men, Lewis and Jackson, who stole the basket from a farmer's wagon last week, were given $5 and costs, and ten days in jail.

The Republican Executive Committee will hold an important business meeting this evening at the law office of W. M. Rockel, Esq., Main street. It is desirable that every member should be present promptly.

Pleasant township is liable to get her town hall, about which there has been so much unnecessary squabbling, at last. The trustees have purchased a desirable lot in Catawba of N. S. Conway for $300, upon which to erect the building this season.

An Evansville, Ind., paper intimates that the reports of the intended removal of the plow works from South End, Ind., was a scheme got up by the owners to scare the South End people into making some concessions which had been demanded, and that it was never intended to remove the concern at all.

The Xenia Gazette, of Monday evening, says: "General Keifer, who has been the able representative of this district in Congress, and has won National reputation as such, will be tendered a reception at the Arcade Hotel, Springfield, Thursday evening of this week, in honor of his retirement from the position."

Business at the L. & B. W. is increasing to such an extent that two extra men have been added to the force at Urbana station. Saturday 140 cars of grain were transferred to the N. Y. P. & O. at that place, and 95 more on Sunday. They have advised that 3,000 cars more are coming from the west. The cars contain grain, meats and provisions of different kinds.

An effort is on foot to build a chapel in Gove's addition, on the North Side, for the Snow Hill Union (Methodist) Sunday School. Mrs. Norman Gove and Miss Caroline Stuart are asking the gentlemen connected with the mission in soliciting funds. The managers desire to have the movement conducted under the general auspices of the Clark County Sabbath School Union.

The county commissioners, in session Monday, adopted an ordinance to prevent the cutting up of the pikes by hauling too heavy loads. It provides that during the months between November and May no loads exceeding 3,000 pounds shall be hauled over the turnpikes except when the ground is frozen hard enough to bear a greater weight without breaking through the crust and cutting up the pike. The penalty for violation of the ordinance is from $5 to $50 fine.

Ohio State Journal: "Mr. Alfred E. J. of Cleveland and Captain Kirkpatrick, J. S. Crowell, William Worthington, Paul Steyer and George Keesey, of Springfield, all bicyclists, were in Columbus yesterday as guests of the Buckeye Bicycle Club. Last evening the visitors were most handsomely entertained by Mr. W. H. Miller at his elegant home on Washington avenue. An elaborate supper was followed by several hours of the most pleasant social intercourse, after which the strangers took trains for their respective homes."

Last night was another poor night for business at the station-house. It doesn't seem to draw new custom worth a cent, of late. One thing can be said of it, however, it holds what it does get. Only two important additions were made to the number of its occupants last night. The first of these, W. F. Kinney, is charged with a plain drunk. M. Collins is indebted for his night's lodging to indulging in the fascinating amusement of loitering around other people's premises. Mr. Collins may show extenuating circumstances, such as having no premises of his own and being told by a doctor that he absolutely must loiter somewhere. If Mr. Collins can prove something like the above he will doubtless get off easily this afternoon.

We clip the following from the Washington Sunday Herald, of March 15th: "Mrs. George Spence, of Springfield, Ohio, who came on to attend the inauguration ceremony of President Cleveland, is visiting her cousin, Mrs. J. H. Wilkinson, 320 East Capitol street. Mrs. Spence is a lady of high literary attainments and is a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. Her cabinet of minerals and herbarium of flowers, sea mosses, and ferns is very fine." This praise is well-deserved. Mrs. Spence is in her peculiar way, an artist in the arrangement of plants, flowers, mosses, ferns, etc., and a lady of really wonderful scientific attainments. The Spence residence in this city is really a little and very fine Exposition in itself.

A Card of Thanks.
In times of sickness, adversity and death, it is a consolation to know that one has friends who are willing to lend a helping hand in time of need. For truly, a friend in need is a friend indeed. I wish to acknowledge my sincere thanks to friends and neighbors of the community in which I live, in return for their kindness shown me during the late sickness and death in my family. And especially would I remember my fellow workers of the Buckeye Works, for the respect shown me in the death of my son Harry. For which, please accept my most grateful thanks.
DANIEL H. LAFREYRE.

The Third Ward Republican caucus will be held at the Central engine house Thursday evening next at 7:30 o'clock. Martin L. Rice and Jacob D. Lisle are the leading candidates for council and T. B. Flago for School Board.

In last week's issue of the Bellbrook (Greene County) Magnet is found the following: "Mr. A. H. Griffith, the gentleman who painted the scenery for our new Township Hall, finished putting it up Friday the 6th inst. There are five scenes and a handsome drop-curtain. The first is a 'kitchen scene,' and is finely executed. The second is a 'parlor scene,' the workmanship of which is hard to excel. The third, a 'garden scene,' is the most beautiful of the lot. The fourth, a very neat 'plain chamber scene,' and the fifth, a 'street scene,' must only be seen to be appreciated. And last, but not least by any means, is the drop-curtain. The scene represents the beautiful city of Venice, looking towards St. Mark. Let everybody come out tonight and not only see the fine scenery, but also witness a first-class entertainment, 'Sentenced for Life,' by the Keene Acme Dramatic Company."

Second Ward Republicans.
The Second Ward Republican caucus held at the Factory street engine house last evening, was a spirited affair, calling out 55 voters of the ward, who manifested an intention to redeem last year's slip. P. M. Cartmell was chairman and Chas. W. Shearer secretary. For councilman the names of B. F. Prince and Capt. Mark A. Smith, were presented. The latter withdrew and Professor Prince was made the nominee by acclamation. For member board of education the names presented were L. H. Kelley and E. T. Thomas. On balloting Mr. Kelley received 25 votes and Mr. Thomas 20. Mr. Kelley was declared the nominee. J. M. Barr and J. B. Edwards were proposed for assessor, and Mr. Edwards was nominated on the first ballot. The ticket is a good one, and it is incumbent on the Republic of the ward to pull off their coats, go to work, and elect it. Prof. Prince has served the ward well in Council, and his re-nomination is an indication of his course in that body. Mr. Kelley is an old resident and property owner in the ward, one of the proprietors of the marble works at Plum street and Ferndale avenue. Mr. Edwards has had experience as assessor, and has given satisfaction to all concerned.

In Memoriam—The Late William H. Tuttle.
William H. Tuttle died at Aiken, S. C., March 8, 1885. The remains arrived in Springfield at noon the 10th inst., the funeral services taking place at his late residence, east of the city, on the 12th inst., conducted by Rev. A. L. Wilkinson, pastor of the First Baptist church of this city, and attended by a large concourse of relatives and friends.

He was born August 24, 1838, in Clark county, Ohio. In the year 1856 he united with the Sinking Creek Presbyterian church. When that church disbanded in 1866 he received a certificate of membership and recommendation to the First Presbyterian church of Springfield, Ohio, which for some reason he never used. In the summer of 1864 he served in the United States army for 100 days. October 26th, 1871, he was married to Miss Mary C. Luse, of Clinton, Ohio. To them were born three children—Fanny A., Carrie D. and Clarence I. His beloved wife and children all survive him. His upright life, honest dealings and integrity of character are known and recognized by all his acquaintances. Although fond of company, and delighting in the society of friends and neighbors, he never carried his heart in his hand. His inner life was known only to a very few intimate friends, himself and God.

During his last long illness he found great delight in reading the Bible, the Psalms and New Testament being his special delight. And when he became too weak to read for himself, he would have his companions read to him daily the Scriptures, sometimes for an hour at a time. The words of the Psalmist, "Thy word is light," were verified to him. His last hours were cheered by the presence of his family, the reunion being a sweet foretaste, as he expressed it, of that meeting in heaven, where there will be no more parting. After commending his loved ones to God and giving them sweet words of counsel, and sending messages to friends far away, in a few short hours he fell asleep in Jesus. In peace and holy confidence in the Lord he was taken into the presence of Him whom he trusted.

IT CAME SUDDENLY! IT WENT PROMPTLY!

Richmond, Indiana, is a busy place, with its various manufacturing industries; and one of the busiest men in it is Mr. A. E. Crocker, who is known throughout all Indiana as a prosperous real estate and insurance man. He is a gentleman in middle life of great vitality, and of very active temperament. Over a year ago, however, he was suddenly prostrated with sciatic rheumatism. To one of our correspondents, who visited him at his office a few weeks ago, Mr. Crocker told the story of his illness and recovery.
Said he: "I had been working very hard, much harder and more continuously than any man ought to work. I had been much exposed to the severity of the winter weather. My health had been so good that I was probably not as careful as I should have been in relying on my strong constitution to carry me through anything and everything. One cold day, last winter, I was unexpectedly taken with an acute pain, which I felt in my knee while sitting down. The pain extended rapidly through thigh, stomach, head and brain. The doctor, who attended me, said it was a remarkable case of sciatic rheumatism. He gave me a variety of medicines, the result of which was but slight and temporary relief. I suffered intensely, and was for a while laid aside from business, and confined to my bed. My case was evidently one requiring more powerful and efficient remedy than the doctor had brought to bear on it."
"After some weeks of suffering, I saw an advertisement of Athlaphora. On a venture, and supposing that anyhow it could not make me any worse than I was, I bought a bottle. The effect of the first dose of this medicine was wonderful. Relief came almost immediately. My sciatica went away almost as quickly as it came. To have such relief as this medicine gave me was gratifying, as I was, unexpectedly, I took nearly a bottle of Athlaphora, which cured me so completely that I have not, since that time, had occasion to take any medicine at all. I have recommended this to a great many friends, and I have heard nothing but good words spoken of it. I think no medicine is like it for removing rheumatism and scattering sciatica."

Although druggists sell hundreds of different kinds of medicines, it sometimes happens that one particular remedy accomplishes so much good that it stands pre-eminently above all the others, and by reason of its great merit attracts conspicuous attention to itself. This is the case with Athlaphora, the new remedy for rheumatism. In the two or three years during which this remedy has been before the public it has made a shining mark in working cures, and has been used by great numbers found their way to the druggist who sold the medicine.
Calling on A. G. Luken & Co., of Richmond, Indiana, our correspondent found that this was eminently the case at their establishment, which is a leading drug house in that busy city.
Mr. Luken said: "Athlaphora is doing a good work. We hear of a great many cases of cure, even though in most instances we do not hear of the names, which is principally because we have taken no special measures to secure them. It is one of the great many of our customers who have been so well pleased with it that they have come for more. Mrs. M. Jones, a widow lady of eighty-eight years, has taken six or eight bottles of it. Of course, you know it cannot be expected entirely to drive out an old and deeply-seated case of rheumatism like hers, but it has greatly relieved her pains. Then there is Mr. Crocker, the insurance and real estate agent, whom everybody in Richmond knows. He was a very sick man, but it made him well. And there are a number of others right before my eyes, who have been cured. Mr. L. W. Richy, the druggist, at New Paris, Ohio, not far from here, can tell you of several. So can Mr. W. F. Robertson, at Whitewater, Indiana. The popularity of Athlaphora seems to be based on actual results, and there is no denying the fact that it has made its mark among the people as an efficient remedy for rheumatism, neuralgia, and sciatica."

The Opium Cure.

The statistics as to the use of opium presented by Dr. F. N. Hammond, of Auburn, are almost startling. In 1840 about 20,000 pounds of opium were consumed in the United States; in 1880, 533,450 pounds. In 1868 there were about 90,000 habitual opium-eaters in the country; now their number over 500,000. If the number of opium-eaters is to be doubled every six or seven years, the opium habit will soon become almost as universal as the whisky habit, and far more baneful in its effects. More women than men are addicted to the use of opium. Dr. Hammond places the proportion at three to one. The vice is so easily contracted, so easily practiced in private, and so difficult of detection, that it presents peculiar temptations. There is little danger of an educated man becoming a drunkard; but there is, perhaps, all the more danger of his becoming an habitual user of opium, or chloral from his very refinement of nerve and brain.

It is pleasantly urged that persons, conscious of not possessing the necessary skill, will refrain from using revolvers. Melancholy experience shows, however, that these are the very people who are most dangerous, and against whom the public need protection.—The Saturday Review.

A Story of Italian Bells.

A touching story is told of a set of bells in the cathedral at Limerick, Ireland. They were made, the story runs, by an Italian artist, who executed them for a convent in his native place. During the years, he was throughout all, and Indiana as a prosperous real estate and insurance man. He is a gentleman in middle life of great vitality, and of very active temperament. Over a year ago, however, he was suddenly prostrated with sciatic rheumatism. To one of our correspondents, who visited him at his office a few weeks ago, Mr. Crocker told the story of his illness and recovery.

In America all doctrines and shades of belief live side by side. In the efforts of civilization of the east there is always the triumph of one belief, one religion, or one idea of government.—Kansas City Times.
